The Outlook for 1884.

Evansville Courier.

Now that all the State elections are over, it may be interesting to sum up the result as it will affect the electoral vote of next year. If each State votes as it has voted at the latest elections held since 1880, the Democrats will elect their candidate by a majority of 119 in the electoral college.
The Democrats now have a majority or plurality of the popular vote in the following States, the electoral vote of each being set opposite it:

Electoral vote.	Electoral vote.
Alabama.....10	Arkansas.....3
California.....5	Delaware.....3
Florida.....3	Georgia.....5
Illinois.....12	Kentucky.....12
Indiana.....11	Louisiana.....8
Michigan.....10	Mississippi.....7
Missouri.....9	Nebraska.....3
New Jersey.....7	New York.....36
North Carolina.....11	Ohio.....21
South Carolina.....7	Tennessee.....12
Texas.....10	Virginia.....12
West Virginia.....6
Total.....290

The Republicans have a popular majority or plurality in the following States:

Electoral vote.	Electoral vote.
Colorado.....3	Connecticut.....3
Illinois.....12	Iowa.....3
Kansas.....3	Maine.....3
Massachusetts.....6	Minnesota.....3
Nebraska.....3	New Hampshire.....3
Oregon.....3	Pennsylvania.....20
Rhode Island.....4	Vermont.....3
Wisconsin.....10
Total.....111

This is the situation as to the Electoral vote if the States should vote as they now stand. It will be observed that the Democrats can lose both New York and Ohio and still elect their President. Or they may lose Ohio, Indiana, Nevada, North Carolina and West Virginia and win the race.

Of all the states now Democratic, however, only New York, Ohio, Indiana and Nevada can be classed as at all "doubtful." With McDonald for President, Indiana and Ohio would be removed from the doubtful list, as would New York, also, especially if the candidate for Vice President should be Samuel J. Randall, of Pennsylvania, or some other equally prominent Democrat from an Eastern State other than New York.

The nomination of a New York man for either place on the Presidential ticket will result, as usual, in faction fighting and trading which must inevitably result in the loss of the electoral vote of that State. In other words, the only way to unite the Democracy of New York, is to deprive all the factions of an opportunity to cut each others throats.

Of the States now Republican, the Democrats with McDonald as their candidate would have a fighting chance to capture Illinois.

There is no comfort in the situation for the Republicans; there is a certainty of a Democratic victory for the Democracy with McDonald as their candidate.

Ben Butler says Massachusetts will be surely Democratic in 1884.

The only pain we can safely make light of, is the window-pa-ne, but the pain that racks our frame and tears our lungs is a matter of serious consequence. To all eviate the latter and effect a permanent cure, Dr.
Bull's Cough Syrup is relied on by all sensible people.

One of Our Advertisers Burnt Out.

Wednesday night at 2 o'clock the fire bell rang out lustily and in a remarkably short time the fire company, engine, etc., were out, but all too late to accomplish any good.
During the preceding afternoon fire had originated in the paint department of the "C" Spring cart factory but was extinguished before any serious damage occurred. After the fire was put out the room was thoroughly cleaned out and sprinkled and no more visible signs of fire occurred till the hour above named, when it was discovered hopelessly in flames.
An attempt was made to use the telephone to give the alarm but the flames had already penetrated to the instrument. When a messenger had reached the engine house the whole structure was a mass of flames. It made a grand fire and no mistake.
About twenty carts were all that was saved. An invoice of stock was taken in July which showed $14,000 beside buildings. The total insurance on stock and buildings was $10,000.
One of the firm informs us that the loss above the insurance will be from $7,000 to $8,000. The company will rebuild at once. They expect to be operating in about sixty days on an enlarged scale, after which all orders will be promptly filled. The company is composed of D. M. Parry, T. H.
Parry and Lon Innis, of Rushville, and T. J. and S. C. Parry, of Con-nersville.—Rushville (Ind.) Graphic.

A couple of pick pockets followed a gentleman for some blocks, with a view of availing themselves of the first opportunity to relieve him of his purse. He suddenly turned into a lawyer's office. "What shall we do now?" asked one. "Wait for the lawyer," said the other.

Peterson's Magazine for December is, as usual, ahead of all the lady's-books. Splendid as this magazine has been in the past, the present number quite outstrips itself. more than a hundred pages of reading-matter; two superb steel plates; a colored pattern, costlier even than a chromo; a colored fashion, double size, printed from steel; and more than half a hundred wood-cuts of fashion, work-table patterns, etc., etc. The stories are as always, exceptionally good:
"Peterson" has long had the reputation of giving the best. It is a standing wonder to us how this magazine can be furnished at its low price: it can only be explained by the enormous circulation which "Peterson" has had now for more than thirty years. We really suppose there are few families, at all pretending to refinement, in which this magazine is not to be found. It claims, and not undeservedly, to give more for the money—and of a better quality—than any other. The December number ends the year. Now therefore, is the time to subscribe for 1884 or to get up clubs. We advise our fair readers to subscribe for no magazine till they have seen a copy of this. Specimens are sent gratis, if written for in good faith. The price but Two Dollars a year to single subscribers. To clubs, it is cheaper still viz: Four copies for six dollars and a half, with an extra copy of the Magazine as a premium to the person getting up the club. Or five copies of the Magazine for getting up the club, and also a superb illustrated book of the poets, called The Golden Gift, or a large-size steel engraving, for framing, Tired Out.
No other magazine gives such premiums. For larger clubs, the price is still lower, while even more premiums are given. Address Peterson's Magazine, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE NEW SHORT ROUTE

To Kansas and the West.

Attention is called to the new Kansas City railroad line now complete and in operation between Memphis Tenn., and Kansas City, Mo. By this new route the south and west is brought into close relation. SAVING several hundred miles and saving many hours travel between the two sections. It is in fact now the only practical route from the south to all points in Kansas, Missouri, Colorado and all western States. A through train with Pullman Palace Sleeping car and elegant day coaches leave Memphis daily, running through to Kansas City without change of cars where it arrives in time to make connection with all trains leaving Kansas City.
For emigrants to the Pacific coast and Northwest, or for home seekers in the Kansas and Missouri, time and money is saved by this short route as against the circuitous routes via St. Louis, herefore the only outlet. Special low rates are made for this class of business and all are carried through to Kansas City in first class cars on first class trains. Round trip, Land Explorers' tickets on sale at low rates. Send for the Emigrants' Guide an eight page paper, giving full and reliable information in regard to Kansas and Missouri—mailed free.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The President has issued the following thanksgiving proclamation:
By the President of the United States of America—A proclamation.
In furtherance of the custom of the people at the closing of each year to engage, upon a day set apart for that purpose in a special festival of praise to the Giver of all good, I, Chester A.
Arthur, President of the United States, do hereby designate Thursday the 29th day of November next as a day of National thanksgiving.

The year which is drawing to an end has been replete with evidences of divine goodness. The prevalence of health, the fullness of the harvests, the stability of peace and order, the growth of fraternal feeling, the spread of intelligence and learning, the continued enjoyment of civil and religious liberty—all these, and countless other blessings, are cause for reverent rejoicing.

I do, therefore, recommend that on the day above appointed, the people rest from their accustomed labors, and, meeting in their several places of worship, express their devout gratitude to God that He hath dealt so bountifully with this Nation, and pray that His grace and favor abide with it forevermore.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.
Done at the City of Washington, the 26th of October in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and eighth. CHESTER A.
ARTHUR.

By the President:
FRED. T. FRELINGHUYSEN,
Secretary of State.

WALTER AND SAMUEL.

A GONE CONSKIN.
[Bowling Green Gazette.]

Maj. Crumbaugh will be relieved of his office as Collector of Internal Revenue. He wrote a threatening letter to A. H. Clark, of Hopkinstville, in which he dared Hon. Walter Evans to come across his line. Clark sent the letter to Col. Evans, and the Colonel promptly takes up the six-bution gauntlet and expresses his intention of seeing the Major before he sails with his naval fleet to find other unconquered worlds. The question of the Major's retirement is settled and unless the Clinton county Republicans can give another boost, we fear he is a gone conskin for some time to come.

SWEET ON EVANS.

With Walter Evans' politics we have no sympathy, but as an officer and a gentleman he is as admirable as the Republican party possesses.
Study in his honesty; brave and candid in opinion; staunch in friendships; open in oppositions, and thoroughly capable in all he undertakes, he stands before the country as a man entitled to the highest respect and confidence.

ET TU BRUTE.
[Owensboro Messenger.]

When Maj. Crumbaugh gets to Washington he will probably stride majestically into the White House and announce to the President in his "dignified, ponderous and inert" style, "If you put me out. I will defeat your nomination in the next convention to a dead certainty."

HIS LOUISVILLE ENEMY.
[Commercial.]

A correspondent asks us why we did not have something about Collector Crumbaugh's long card in the Courier-Journal. There was nothing left to say anything about when Crumbaugh got through. He absolutely annihilated his own case and himself too. R. I. P.

A TEWKSBURY SMELL.
[Herald Enterprise.]

Maj. Crumbaugh has been acquitted of the unstamped-official-envelopes business, but his trial stirred up a stench in rotten Kentucky Republicanism that has given our State, temporarily, a regular Massachusetts-Tewksbury smell. Even the strong stomachs of decent Republicans are hardly able to stand the nauseous odor. Besides a great many other things too disgusting to be mentioned by a virtuous Democratic paper, the trial of the Crested Peacock of Stalwartism—who it seems has prostituted his office in the abortive furtherance of his egotistic aspirations toward the Secretaryship of the Navy—has developed a red-hot war between the Collector and Commissioner of Internal Revenue Evans. As a result of this fight, one or both must go, and it is now generally conceded that it will be the Collector.

"THE MAJAH."
[Bowling Green Times.]

Major Crumbaugh is out in a lengthy card in the Courier-Journal of yesterday, which is both silly and childish. He repeats his threats against Col. Walter Evans and others and has made as complete an ass of himself as is possible. The "Ma-jah" had better curb his temper and learn to act the part of a martyr or else withdraw altogether from the political arena.

SOME GOOD ADVICE.
[Sunday Argus.]

Collector Crumbaugh, be it said, may be a vain man and a poor politician, but nobody believes he would steal. He wouldn't turn on his heels for twice fifty cents. He is in fact a man of scrupulous integrity. He has been a faithful officer. But he was over confiding and over confident in his aspirations. Now, let him utilize the lesson. He should remember that a politician must never write a letter which he would not, at any time, be pleased to see in print.
Meantime, it is apparent that Collector Crumbaugh must go. He will shortly be brought to contemplate a republic's base ingratitude.

When a near sighted person attempts to read fine print without spectacles, he is merely eye-ding his time.—Madisonville Times.

1883 has witnessed the greatest improvements in Sewing Machines since their introduction, therefore it is to your interest to examine, see and get the best and latest improved Machines. To that fact I invite you to call at my office and see the Machines I have or write me a card and I will send one for your inspection. I am a first-class machinist, having served a regular apprenticeship at the Sewing Machine factory and fitted up a shop in Hop-kinstville with all the tools necessary to repair all kinds of Sewing Machines.
I can do the best of work and guarantee satisfaction. I am an expert in everything related to the Sewing Machine and if you have any work to be done in that line it will be to your interest to bring it to my shop. Besides being a thorough adjuster myself I have in my employ one of the best adjusters in the State of Kentucky. A full supply of Parts, Attachments, Oils, Etc., always on hand. In buying a Machine from me you are not investing in an uncertainty, for if the Machine needs any attention you can write me or leave word at my shop and it will be attended at once. I have several patents of my own "got up" which I put on all the Machines I sell, and if you wish to buy a machine all I ask is for you to examine my Machines at my office or at your house. Having my own teams and traveling all the time it will be no trouble for me to bring you one and show you what it will do, and then you can be your own judge.

Respectfully,
N. B.—In writing to me state where you live.

LAGAYETTE, KY.

Nov. 10, 1883.

It has never been the duty of Camille to chronicle a sadder event than was the death of John Anglen, which occurred at the residence of his sister Mrs. J. W. Griffin of Lafayette, on the morning of the 7th inst., in the 21st year of his age. Death, when it comes even to those who are old and infirm, to those who have lived out the full measure of three score years and ten, is fraught with genuine horrors; but far more terrible is the grim monster when it cuts down a young man in the pride of developing manhood and who is just entering on a life, around which shine the golden beams of many bright hopes. Three weeks ago John was happy in the enjoyment of health and strength, life to him seemed replete with joyful anticipations of a pleasant future; now he sleeps in the silence of the dark, cold grave, having fallen a victim to that ruthless disease, typhoid fever. John, though not a member of any church, was a high-toned, honorable and generous young gentleman. Wherever he went he invariably gained friends, and none knew him but to like him. He was raised in this community and besides an aged father, two sisters and three brothers, he leaves a number of other relatives and many friends to mourn his early death.

"With prospects bright and budding fair, just rising into bloom, Death came in an untimely hour, and snatched him to the tomb."

To his sorrowing relations Camille desires to extend his deepest sympathies in this their share of sore distress.

Mrs. Annie Cowan has for several days been quite sick with malarial fever, but is a little better at this writing.

Messrs. Milus Cooper and Joseph Boyd, Jr., two of the most popular young gentlemen from this section of country, left a day or two ago for Florida, where they expect to embark in business. Mr. Cooper will take charge of Mr. W. T. Radford's orange grove, but Mr. Boyd is as yet undecided as to what business he will follow.

These young gentlemen are well and favorably known in this community; and a large number of friends wish for them a pleasant and profitable sojourn in the land of flowers. For three days "the low hung clouds have dropped their garnered fullness down" and still it rains.

HERE AND THERE.

W. F. Patton, Life Insurance.

Don't forget to call at Wilson & Galbreath's and see old Santa Claus.

Polk Candler's Stock Sale comes off at his Stable in this City, next Saturday Nov. 17th.

Wilson & Galbreath have the largest and nicest line of Christmas goods to be found in the city.

The Christian Women's Charity Association will meet at the Baptist church to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. J. T. Story, of Roaring Springs, raised 175 bushels of turnips on $\frac{3}{4}$ of an acre of ground this season. This is the best yield we have heard of.

Country merchants can get their Christmas goods as cheap from us as they can buy them in Louisville or Cincinnati. WILSON & GALBREATH.

Mr. Dell Faulkner and Miss Sudie Ella Nance, both of the Cerulean Springs neighborhood, in this county, were joined in wedlock yesterday. The bride is a daughter of Dr. Nance and is an elegant lady, and Dell is a promising young man and a clever gentleman. We bespeak for them a happy hereafter.—Telephone.

Two weddings occurred in the Roaring Springs neighborhood a few days ago. Mr. Al Rascoe was married to Miss Mattie Hayes, at the residence of her father Mr. Wm Hayes, and Mr. James Gollady and Miss Ida Thomas were married a few days later. The latter pair took a bridal tour to Louisville, returning last Friday.

Mr. J. W. Outlaw, from Indian Mound, Tenn., has accepted a position in the large confectionery store of Wilson & Galbreath.

Mr. Braun, the Immigrant agent, reports that several other immigrants arrived here last week. Henry Lange and August Crow, of Muskegan, Mich., with their families have gone to Buehler's settlement in Stewart county, Tenn. Henry Wheeler has settled near Bennettsville and Chas. Wolf, from East St. Louis, is here looking for a farm of 400 acres with a view of purchasing.

Every Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock the rink will be open for ladies to practice skating. Gentlemen not admitted. Admission 15 cts, use of skates free. Next Monday night and every Monday night thereafter the rink will be open to couples only. No Gent admitted unless accompanied by a lady. Open every Friday night as usual.

A couple of young people were married on the train while en-route between Nashville and Springfield, Tenn., last Thursday. Conductor, Charlie Wood, one of the cleverest men on the road, called out "tickets," in the midst of the ceremony without knowing what was going on and was asked by the squire to "hold on a minute till I finish marrying this couple." He waited till they were made one, but required two tickets all the same. Our informant could not give us any of the particulars.

Messrs. Frank Petty, Burke Merritt, Jim Drake, Bob Jordan, Jno. H. Cavanah and W. L. Parker, of this county, constituted a hunting crowd who went to Pond River last Tuesday, to hunt deer. Upon reaching the place selected for a camp, they found a Hopkins county crowd already there, consisting of Sheriff Nisbet, Bill Arnold, Dock Davis and several others. All hands joined camps and the first drive made Tuesday they killed two deer, one being bagged by Bob Jordan. The next day they killed two more; both of these were brought down by Jim Drake on the same stand, one with each barrel. These were all they killed and the remainder of the time was spent in hunting squirrels and birds, and of these they killed large numbers. The crowd returned Friday, highly elated at having met with such fine success.

A CHANCE FOR WATER-WORKS.

They will be Built if the Voters Want Them.

At a meeting of the Board of councilmen of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky., held Nov. 8, 1883, F. M. Lowrey and associates presented to the Board a written proposition to erect, build and maintain water-works in the city of Hopkinsville, which was ordered to be filed.

Said proposition, amongst other things, proposes that the city shall give said Lowrey and associates the exclusive right to build and maintain water-works and to erect not less than sixty hydrants for the use of the city in case of fire, sprinkling streets, flushing of gutters and supplying the public buildings, for which the city shall pay $3,000 per year and $50 per year for each hydrant the city may order over 60.

To supply water to private consumers at a rate not exceeding five cents per hundred gallons, or equal in price to any near by private company or city, with the right to the city to purchase the works at valuation after the expiration of as many years as may hereafter be agreed upon by contractors.

And on motion of Councilman E.

P. Campbell the vote was taken upon the question whether or not the city is able and if it is to the best interests of the city to accept any proposition for the establishment of water-works, and on said proposition all the Councilmen voted aye.

The said written proposition was then taken up and considered and received the favorable consideration of the Council as a basis for a contract, subject to such changes and modifications as the Council may think necessary and proper in case a contract is made and as may be agreed upon by the Council and said Lowrey and associates.

But it is the sense and opinion of the Council that the amount of liability to be incurred by the city in accepting a proposition for water-works is too great for the Council to incur without an expression from the voters and tax payers of the city. Therefore it is

Resolved and ordained that at the regular annual election of Councilmen to be held on the second Saturday in December, 1883, a poll be opened by the officers of said election with a column for and against water-works and each person who may vote on said question to be recorded for or against, as he may vote. But no person to vote on said proposition except those legally entitled to vote at said election for City Councilmen.

ATTEST, H. R. LITTELL, CLERK.

A Warehousemen on the Grange Middle.

Ed. South Kentuckian:

Your "plain statement of the facts" in your last issue in regard to the Grangers and warehousemen of Hopkinsville, places the Tobacco Board of trade in rather a false attitude, which was doubtless unintentional, and we therefore submit the following as it stands on record. In the winter of 1869 and 70, the origin of our tobacco market, our charges were copied from the Clarksville market, viz: $3.50 per hoghead and 1% commission and $1 buyer's charges. After a number of years a change was made to $2.50 per hoghead and 1% commission and $2 buyer's charges. After a fair trial this was found to operate against the best interests of the market, as it was agreed by the buyers that they could buy on neighboring markets 1000 hogheads for $100, whereas on the Hopkinsville market it cost them $2000 to buy the same number of hogheads. In order to remedy this difficulty the warehousemen were compelled to reduce the buyer's charges to $1 per hoghead, and after doing so considering that they had reduced charges to rock bottom prices, they asked the Board of Trade to endorse their action and protect them from reckless adventurers by resolving only to buy at regular houses, selling at uniform rates, thereby giving stability to the market and confidence to the trade. In order to conciliate and accommodate all parties the warehousemen further agreed to allow a rebate to two county Granges, which was done for several years and which resulted unprofitably to the warehouses which sold the tobacco, and consequently they held a meeting this fall and resolved to sell at the established prices for all parties, giving rebates to none. The Board of Trade was then assembled and asked to affirm their action some years ago, which they did almost unanimously, discouraging catch-penny establishments which shoot up for the moment to disturb and damage regular trade and this is all they did. The warehousemen of Hopkinsville feel that they have done nothing to incur the displeasure of a large body of our best planters, among whom are numbers of their most intimate and best friends, and would be glad to sell their tobacco at prices that would pay the expense and labor of handling, and they expect to maintain their home market by fair, open, honest dealing against the sleight of hand craftiness of distant markets. The Board of Trade regulations of Louisville, Clarksville and Hopkinsville are substantially the same. H.

Concert November 16th.

A concert will be given at the Opera House on Friday evening, the 16th inst., under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of Grace (Episcopal) church. The object of the concert is to raise money to furnish the new church when completed. Our home musical talent is of a high order, but in addition to this, several ladies and gentlemen from abroad have kindly consented to assist, which offers a special attraction. No effort has been spared in preparing a program-me which will please and interest all who attend. As the ladies are engaged in a good work, we trust our citizens, generally, will aid them with their presence, and in return get the worth of their money from the enjoyment of a first class entertainment. The scale of prices will be as follows, viz: General admission, 50 cents, no extra charge for reserved seats; gallery, 25 cents. Tickets for sale at Gish & Garner's.

H. Clay McGee, an ex-Kentuckian of Kansas City, Mo., murdered his wife and grown daughter and then committed suicide. Cause not known.

Conundrums.

How did Queen Elizabeth take her pills? In cider.

What holds all the snuff in the world? No one nose.

At what time of day was Adam born? A little before Eve.

What relation is the door to the door-mat? A step father.

When is a cake inhabited? When there is a little Indian in it.

Why is a door like a colored woman? Because it's an egress.

What is it that a poor man has and a rich man wants? Nothing.

How was Moses put in the ark of bulrushes? He was pitched in.

How did Adam and Eve get out of the garden of Eden? They were snaked out.

Why do white sheep eat more than black sheep? Because there are more of them.

Why is dew like a falling star?
One is mist on earth, the other missed from heaven.

Why was Cowper, the poet in debt?
Because he "oh'd for a lodge in some vast wilderness."

What is the difference between the North and South pole? All the difference in the world.

Why is a lawyer like a restless man in bed? Because he first lies on one side, then on the other.

Why is conscience like the strap of an omnibus? Because it's an inward check on the outward man.

Why is a lady at a ball like an arrow? Because she can't go off without a beam, and is in a quiver till she gets one.

What is the difference between a fool and a mirror? The fool speaks without reflecting, and the mirror reflects without speaking.

Why are hens immortal? Because their sons never set. Why have they no hereafter? Because they have their necks twisted in this.

Guiteau's Ghost.

Warden Crocker, of the district jail says he is not yet free from the Guiteau business. Often some cranky prisoner in the jail declares he saw Guiteau in a vision, and a night or two ago a prisoner confined in an adjoining corridor of the same wing in which the famous assassin was caged created a commotion in the jail at midnight by shouting that he had just seen Guiteau. He could not be induced to think he was deluded by a temporary aberration of mind, but maintained that Guiteau came into his cell and stood there for some time, so frightening the occupant that he was speechless for awhile. He still sticks to the story, but the jail authorities still say that he is only one of the many cranks who have become temporarily insane in the jail by brooding over the crime and punishment of the assassin.

TWO DISTINGUISHED TRAVELERS.

Two young ladies of Terre Haute were returning from California. The parlor car they were in was crowded with passengers. At a small station a woman in showy attire entered and demanded a whole section of sleeping car. It was not to be had, and the conductor, brakeman, porter and cook, who seemed to be impressed with the new passenger's importance, were all painfully exercised to know where to put her. They looked at the other passengers with scorn, and seemed, without exactly asking, to demand an apology for their appearance in the car where they had paid for rights and privileges. The cause of all this commotion was very blonde, very large, very richly clothed and very swell.
When it seemed impossible to get her a whole section, or even half a one, she turned to the young ladies and said:
"Will you consent to take the upper berth of your section and let me have the lower?"

"Sorry we can't oblige you," replied one of the pink-cheeked fairies; "but really we prefer to keep the lower berth ourselves."

Then the big blonde straightened herself up, threw ineffable contempt and superhuman importance into her pale eyes and said: "Perhaps you don't know who I am?"

"No, we don't," replied the Terre Haute girl, in a tone of serene indifference.

"I will tell you," said the woman of silks and jewels, as her face bloated and warmed with self-satisfaction; "I am Mrs. Colonel Dunlevy Wickersham" (Dunlevy Wickersham is known all along that end of the road as a bonanza man—bushels of money—so much that he needs nothing more).

"Are you, indeed?" replied the Hoosier maiden, not at all overwhelmed.
"Perhaps you don't know who I am?"

Madame Bonanza's face said that she didn't, and also that she had some curiosity.

"Well, I am Mrs. General Grant." And "I," said her companion, who had hitherto kept silent, "am Queen Victoria."

Madame Bonanza subtitled.—Indianapolis Review.

"THE SUPERLATIVE" AT PUBLIC
DINERS.

I once attended a dinner given to a great state functionary by functionaries —men of law, state and trade. The guest was a great man in his own country, and an honored diplomatist in this.
His health was drunk with some no-knowledge of his distinguished services to both countries, and followed by nine cold hurrahs. There was the vicious superlative. Then the great official spoke and beat his breast, and declared that he should remember this honor to the latest moment of his existence. He was answered again by officials. Pity, thought I, they should lie so about their keen sensibility to the nine cold hurrahs and to the commonplace compliment of a dinner. Men of the world value truth, in proportion to their ability, not by its sacredness, but for its convenience. O such, especially of diplomatists, one has a right to expect wit and ingenuity to avoid the lie, if they must comply with the form. Now, I had been present, a little before, in the country at a cattle show dinner, which followed an agricultural discourse delivered by a farmer the discourse, to say the truth, was bad and one of our village fathers gave a dinner this toast: "The orator of the day; his subject deserves the attention of every farmer." The caution of the toast did honor to our village father.
I wish great lords and diplomatists had as much respect for truth.—Ralph Waldo Emerson, in the Century.

A LIKELY STORY.

A nurse was telling about a man who had become so terribly worn out by dissipation that he could not keep any food on his stomach, when one of her listeners asked:

"What does he live on, then?"

"On his relations, ma'am," answered the nurse.

THE ADVANTAGES OF BEING A BOY.

At the Railway (N. J.) grammar school Adolph Jacobs, aged 13, composed and read the following composition on "The Advantages of Being a Boy."

"A boy is generally born when he is very young, and gets to be a man before his mother. A boy is not so skittish as a girl. He takes a mouse, which would scare his sister half to death, and ties a string to its tail and swings it over his head. Then he is in his glory, and laughs at his sister, who is looking for a knot-hole to hide in. He wears no lace bibs or corsets, petticoats or skirts. A boy possesses ten times more cheek than a girl, but if he ever does any mischief he owns up to it with a bright and smiling face. Girls are a great deal of trouble to their parents, who have to keep them until somebody falls in love and marries them. Not so with the boy—he takes care of horses, works in the mines and raises Cain. All that girls do for exercise is to make dolls' chemises and crochet work, while the boy, the spark of mankind, is putting up some job to play on his teacher, or playing the glorious game of baseball. Hurrah! then, for the boys. They are the standard-bearers of the world!"

An idiot boy at Cleveland, Ohio, has been rendered intelligent by the application of electricity. The people of Cairo should focus all the telegraph wires in the city on the heads of their editors and see if the electric current will perform the same grateful sur-vice for them that it did for the Buckeye young man.—Paducah News.

FIRE HORSE MILK PEDDLER.

The runaway on Chestnut street Sunday morning was a queer affair, and wasn't a runaway either. It will be remembered that a number of old horses that had been used by the fire department were sold at auction last week.
One of them, a sleepy old fellow, was sold and traded around until he got into the hands of a man who peddled milk.
The old horse thought he had struck something that just suited him in his old age, and he trotted along with the milk wagon as handily as possible, and the German peddler, who did not know any thing of the former employment of the fire horse, smoked his pipe in peace, and emptied his milk in pithers as though there was no care on his mind. Sunday morning the German was delivering some alleged milk into a girl's tin receptacle on Chestnut street, when the fire bell struck 317. The old horse simply raised his fore feet in the air and made one jump before the old man could pull up on the reins, when the beast was stopped. We presume there never was a more astonished German in the world than this one. The milk man was covered with spilled milk, and looking over his shoulder at his customer he found that he had emptied a quart of milk on her neck, and it was seeping its level, while she was looking at a broken pitcher on the sidewalk, and swearing at the milk man in English.

that was nearly as badly broken as the pitcher. By the time the peddler got the horse quieted the fire engine and hook and ladder truck and hose cart came across the bridge, the alarms ringing, and the crowd yelling, and then it was that the old horse hitched to the milk wagon began to smell woolen burning. He started up Chestnut street on a run, the milk wagon rattling, and the German trying to hold the horse with one hand while he kept six milk cans right side up with the other hand and both legs. Going over the first crossing a milk can jumped into the air and came down bottom side up into the German's lap, and he fairly floated in milk, while he yelled "Whea do for dama shinnel," or something of that nature. The milk wagon kept ahead of the engine, and at every stroke of the bell the old horse gave an extra jump, until he arrived at the shore from which the smoke proceeded, when he turned the milk wagon up to a hydrant on the corner and stopped so quick that the driver went over the dashboard with a milk can pouncing him in the ear. The rest of the fire apparatus stopped at convenient points, and the old horse looked over his shoulder as much as to say to the other fire horses, "You thought old Tom was played out, but I notice his flag is still there, and he can teach some of you green colts a thing or two about a fire department." The old German got out and wiped the milk out of his neck, set the cans right side up, kicked the horse in the stomach, and as a saloon keeper looked at the hydrant and asked the old man if he was going to water his milk, the peddler got in his wagon, and drove off to find the girl with milk in her hair and said:
"Well, I tink dot old horse vas a crank.
He yooast eat crazy ven a red-headed girl comes out mit a bitches for milk."
—Peck's Sun.

"As that poor man in New Hampshire died of smoking, I don't know as I ought to press you to take this cigar," said a visitor to a reporter. "I can accept it," said the scribe, as he reached for the Victoria, a stranger to newspaper offices, adding: "A fellow who has written up deaths from arsenic in wall paper, from chloery in coffee, from eating canned articles and from inhaling sewer gas will die a natural death." —Boston Globe.

"Four hostile newspaper men," said the First Napoleon, "are more to be dreaded than 100,000 bayonets." Car it be that Nap. did not pay for the loss notices he had published, and in which he was spoken of as "one of our mo-narchical, etc., etc."
